They have done very well but it takes time to get over the town and they want to give everybody a chance to subscribe. The final arrangements will be made to-night or to-morrow. A number of applications have been made for the trip.

THE present government will find it very hard to please the Calgary Herald. In the beginning of a recent editorial paragraph it complains of the government having driven capital away from the Saskatchewan by refusing to give miners large enough claims and at the end it complains because the government has given a large concession to induce the investment of capital. Does the Herald want capital or does it not want it, or is it simply "agin the government?"

YUKON TRADE.

Calgary has awakened to the existence of an eastern route to the Yukon. A board of trade meeting was held on Friday evening last to discuss ways and means of capturing a portion of the Yukon outfitting trade. In the discussion that took place it was brought out very clearly that Calgary had or should have very direct interest in booming the eastern route. A committee was appointed to enquire into the matter and report to a meeting to be held on Monday evening last.

It is to be hoped that Winnipeg and cities even further east will, like Calgary, wake up to the desirability of opening up the eastern route, and will make common cause to turn the attention of the government in that direction. If eastern people become alive to the fact that the eastern route can not only be made the best, is the one route that can be depended upon in case of trouble with our neighbors, and besides is the only route they can make money out of, there will be a chance of getting something done on it. We do not grudge the people of the coast cities of Canada their share of the Yukon trade. They are entitled to all the advantages nature has given them and all the aid they can get from the government as well. But it is well to keep in mind that for trade over any possible coast route we have to compete with our United States trade rivals and to submit to dividing the trade with them. But Canada would have an absolute monopoly of all trade over the eastern route and if it were made the best, as it could be, it would cut our foreign competitors out of the trade of the Yukon, which they now control. It is a duty which the government of Canada owes to its own business interests to make any reasonable expenditure to improve the trade route to the Yukon from east of the mountains. To-day the government is paying as much to the Indian packers of police and government official supplies across the Chilcot pass as would cut a horse and cattle trail all the way from Edmonton to the Klondike and make Canada independent of the United States in the matter of the transport at least of its troops and government officials.

PEEL RIVER

Which joins the Mackenzie near its mouth is a large, but little known stream. As it is half a mile wide at Fort McPherson, fourteen miles above its mouth, it must drain a great area of country, and as it has never been explored its length and branches are unknown. It is generally laid down on the maps as lying between the Rocky Mountains and the Mackenzie river. At its mouth that is certainly its position, but as the Rockies are not sufficiently distant from the Mackenzie in its lower course to allow of any large river basin lying between, the basin of this Peel must be chiefly west of the Rockies. As the Peace and Liard tributaries of the Mackenzie rise in the gold range and cut through the Rockies it is more than likely that the Peel does the same, and that in fact it is a stream well worthy the attention of prospectors. Indeed in Ogilvie's trip in the spring of 1888 from the Yukon to the Mackenzie he mentions crossing on his way between the head of the Tat-on-due branch of the Yukon and the Porcupine, the headwaters of a stream which he was told by the Indians was part of the Peel river. He was slow to believe this at the time, but subsequent information which he received established him in the belief. Notwithstanding this the government maps show the stream which he mentions as running eastward to nowhere. It is called Ogilvie river. The sources which he mentions are within 60 miles of the Yukon. The Indians declared the river impassable for canoes, either up or down, in part of its course, no doubt where it passes through the Rockies, but it is not the less likely to be gold bearing on that account. Mr. Ogilvie also mentions that the Indians told him of another branch of what he supposed to be the same river which takes its rise near the headwaters of the more southerly branch of the Tat-on-due, and even a shorter distance from the main stream of the Yukon. It is to be hoped that some of the numerous parties of prospectors who have gone and are going down the Mackenzie will not fail to prospect the Peel before crossing over to the Yukon.

TO THE YUKON.

The California party bound for the Yukon pulled out Tuesday afternoon. Their outfit comprised about 120 horses and made a most imposing appearance when lined up on Jasper avenue to be photographed just before the start. The names of the several parties are: J. W. Cate, T. J. Kelly, L. Boot, L. McDonald, C. C. Haag, W. R. Haag, A. S. Cagwin, G. R. Walton, Bert Stevens, O. L. Ingles, H. H. Quick, T. R. Dunlap, N. P. Howley, W. R. King, Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Garner, K. Emerzian and H. Rustigian, of Fresno, California; John Q. A. Walker, of New York City, and Benjamin P. Sears, of Bennington, Vermont. Messrs. King, Garner, Emerzian and Rustigian form a party distinct from the rest of their friends although travelling with them. The two latter are Armenians. They were not able to start with the others as some of their horses got astray, but they will catch up before they reach Lake St. Ann, which is the end of wagoning. Besides the above Walter Bisson, of Lake St. Ann, has been engaged as packer by Mr. Walker, and J. P. Collinow, of Lake St. Ann, will guide the party to Fort St. John on Peace river. The process of packing is a very intricate one and it did not appear that the members of the party generally were altogether familiar with it. Consequently there was considerable delay in starting. However, all but the Armenians finally got away during the afternoon and the more fortunate ones reached St. Albert, nine miles away, the same evening. The members of this party are entitled to every credit for the courage with which they have undertaken to make the journey over the unknown land route between here and the Yukon, and everyone wishes them the most abundant success, both on the way and after they get there. They do not expect to reach the Yukon region this fall, but hoped to get to the upper part of the Liard where they could drift mine or trap as best suited them during the winter and make across the divide to the upper waters of the Pelly river early next season. They intended to put in next season prospecting in that region, and hope to strike it rich in that locality without going to the Klondike. They have taken a very full supply of provisions and necessities. Indeed it is feared that they have loaded too heavily to make the time that it is desirable they should make to carry out their plans. Should they not get further than Fort St. John, Peace river, however, this fall—about 350 miles—their horses will winter well there and they can make an early start in the spring. The route they are taking is by way of Lake St. Ann, crossing the Athabasca at the mouth of McLeod river, thence on by way of Sturgeon lake and Grand Prairie to Fort St. John, on Peace river. At St. John they will cross Peace river and will probably take the best available route north to the Nelson river down which they will go to near its junction with the Liard. Thence up the Liard and across the divide to the Pelly.

A KLONDIKE TRAIL.

An Ashcroft, B. C., telegram of Aug. 18th, says: There was a citizens' meeting held here Monday to discuss ways and means for ascertaining the true condition of the roads and trails leading from here to Telegraph Creek, some 650 miles up the proposed Klondike trail. They formed a business men's committee, also a sub-committee of three, to solicit funds to send an expedition through to Telegraph Creek or Teslin lake. Several subscriptions were secured at the meeting. Mr. Prentice, a wealthy cattleman of this section, generously donated $200. Other subscriptions were secured from Wm. Lyne, of the Ashcroft hotel; A. Walters, of the Cariboo exchange, and others, so that the aggregate amount secured was over $300. They propose to send a civil engineer and photographer over the line immediately and have them return by the steamer route and make a report of the probable expense of repairing said road. Mr. O'Harrow, Wm. Lyne and Dr. Reynolds constitute the soliciting committee. They will raise about $600 to defray all expenses of two men, who will start immediately for the north. The Dominion government is spending $10,400 building a road from Telegraph Creek to Teslin lake. When the party return it is proposed to get out pamphlets containing maps, illustrations and all information necessary for one contemplating taking this route to the "golden paradise." The people of Ashcroft are aware of the great rush to be made in the spring and they will not allow this "nature's passage" to remain blocked if a few hundred dollars will open it up, as they expect it will.

THE COAST ROUTE.

The Associated Press correspondent writes from Lake Lindeman as follows: Lake Lindeman, Aug. 7.—On Lakes Lindeman and Bennett are nearly 500 people, actively making preparations and building boats for descent to the Klondike. The Skagway trail is open and the first contingent reached Tagish lake on Thursday last, numbering 300 people. The trail is nearly 50 miles long and horses are able to pack 250 pounds from Salt Water to Tagish. Nearly 1,000 people are in camp at Skagway and it is expected that they will take nearly all of the travel from the Dyea route except during the winter and spring months.

The opening of the Skagway road is sure to cause travel to continue as late as Sept. 15. At present the Dyea trail is blocked with freight and passengers, and to complicate matters, the Chilcot Indians have struck for 20 cents a pound, which makes the cost of flour, laid down at this place, $11 a sack. Boat loads of people are leaving here for Lake Bennett every day for the mines.

TO THE YUKON.

On Board s. s. Dunube, Aug. 2nd, '97.
As you see by the heading the Edmonton party is well on its way to the Eldorado, where the eyes of the western country is fixed. The excitement on the coast is intense and it is almost impossible to secure passage on steamers going to Skagway Bay. We arrived at Victoria at 9 p. m. Friday, outfitting on Saturday, pass the necessary custom papers, secure our passage and were on the way on Sunday, July 5, 000 people witnessing our departure and cheering the Klondikers. I am taking in the Yukon mail and I have been asked to take back the Yukon mail, which I may do if the inducements are such as to make it worth while for me. If I do so I shall probably be a few months in Edmonton this winter, and return in the spring. My party is in splendid spirits and everything so far has gone well. We got in with a party of capitalists who have horses and who will help us over the pass and with their boats. We will have no trouble. We have nearly a year's supply with us and we are already assured of a good thing. The boys begin to think that they will not work for wages but take their chances at the mines. The number of passengers on board is about 150, and is a curious mixture. Doctors, lawyers, and other professional men are represented, a few Jews, men tottering to the grave, old miners and in fact every class is represented. How many will reach the gold fields is hard to say, for from observation 40 per cent have no idea of the hardship to endure and will never get any further than Dyea. There is now 500 men at Dyea unable to cross having no facilities to get their stuff packed over and out of the thousands going in not one half will reach their destination. I would advise any of my Edmonton friends not to start now, but wait until March, unless they have horses on board steamer to do their packing. Our party have combined with another party of two, and we have ten horses to do our packing, and boats all made, so I think that next time you hear from me will be from the now famous Klondike. Another party have also asked us to join them, but we declined. As you are aware our party consists of men used to boats and horses and had we known could have commanded good wages from Dyea.

SASKATCHEWAN GOLD.

Prince Albert Advocate: The prospectors, Messrs. Drain and Loucks, who were sent down the river some six or seven weeks ago to search for gold, have returned. They first went to Cumberland House, and from there northeast about 100 miles. When they neared the end of their journey they met Messrs. Bell and White, who left here some time previously on a similar mission, and the whole party spread out and explored a large tract of country, which in that region is principally rock, muskeg and water. Several samples of quartz were brought back by the prospectors, and are being sent east to be assayed. Bell and White continued on down the Saskatchewan, intending to take boats for Winnipeg, while our men started homeward up stream. A meeting of the syndicate will be held to-night, but it is not likely anything definite regarding the find will be known until the returns from the assayer reach here.

YUKON.

Victoria Times: The Hon. Clifford Sifton, minister of the interior, will sail for Dyea on September 26th on the Quadra, to personally examine into matters and things connected with the rush to the Klondike.

Lieut. Col. Henry Aylmer, who was appointed registrar for the Yukon, has decided not to go. He is not in very good health and does not think that he would be able to stand the fatigue of the journey and the severity of the approaching winter in the Yukon.

W. T. Jennings, C. E., Toronto, and survey party, will start from Victoria about 16th September for Dyea. He has been instructed to make a preliminary survey of a railway on Canadian territory from a navigable point towards the interior. It is possible that the Stickeen route will be adopted.

Dr. Bonner, the defeated candidate in North Bruce, has been appointed surgeon to the mounted police. He will be located at Tagish, in the Yukon district.

J. G. McGregor, of Brandon, has been appointed government inspector of mines in the Yukon district. He goes west with Walsh.

Mr. Havelock Norwood, of Nova Scotia, has been appointed inspector of mines, along with James D. McGregor, in the Yukon. Norwood will leave with Walsh.

MACLEOD STATION.

The site of the railway station at MacLeod has been settled upon by agreement between the citizens and the C. P. R. Co. By the agreement between the latter were compelled to establish and maintain a station for passengers and freight within the corporate town of MacLeod. The company laid out their station grounds beyond the limit. An emergent meeting of the citizens was held on Saturday evening, August 15th, and a committee appointed to interview Manager Haney, with the town council. Mr. Haney rationally admitted that the proposed location was outside the limits agreed upon with the government and said he would change it if the people insisted, but said that if the change were made the chance of MacLeod being a divisional point would be lessened or destroyed, as the site proposed by the townspeople for the station was not suitable for divisional purposes. The people then weakened and agreed to accept the site selected by the company. The have no guarantee as to the divisional point, but Vice-President Shaughnessy, who visited MacLeod last week, assured them that it would be located at MacLeod.

ATHABASCA LANDING.

August 17: Steamer Athabasca left for Grand Rapids the last trip this season. Jenner and party started for Peel's River en route to the Klondike. The boat they brought from Edmonton could not carry the outfit, they had to build a punt here to lighten up.

August 18: Jas. Cumming, who has been working at the oil works at Pelican portage, arrived by shank's mare to say, reports that Mr. H. George, farm instructor for the C. of E. mission at Wabascow, came to his camp about 40 miles above the portage without hat, shoes, and clothing nearly all torn off and in a starving condition, he had been without food for days. George and a half breed left here on the 26th July by skiff for Wabascow. On the way from the portage, while the men were taking the boat up a bend in the creek, George started by a short cut overland to join them above, got mixed up and wandered through the bush for days without food and finally struck the river and Cumming's tracks and followed them to camp. Cummings, who was short of everything himself, did what he could for him, and Stephen's party happening to arrive took him back to the portage.

August 19: John Fraser, who has been building flat boats for C. Fraser and miners, returns to Edmonton today. All parties for the Yukon have gone with the exception of Mr. Bain, of Winnipeg, who is ready to start when his partner arrives from Edmonton. Very warm weather.

THE YUKON TRAIL

A meeting was held last evening in the council chamber at the call of the mayor to take into consideration the project of sending an exploring party to Pelly river overland all the way. There was a good attendance. The chair was taken by Mayor McDougall and H. S. Young was elected secretary. The chairman explained the purpose of the meeting which was to take steps to get reliable information as to the practicability of a trail which could be travelled by cattle and pack horses in summer and by dog trains or possibly horses in winter from Edmonton to the navigable waters of the Yukon. Since it had been demonstrated by enquiry that there was a very great lack of information regarding the proposed route, particularly beyond Peace river, the project of sending an exploring party had been discussed, and a subscription was started for the purpose. At the request of some of the parties interested Mr. Oliver, M. P., had telegraphed the minister of the interior requesting that a scientist be sent with the proposed party by the government, so that on the return of the party the government would have a report regarding the route upon which they could rely. He had secured a reply that a police patrol would be sent and that the Edmonton party could accompany them. If a party were to be sent immediate action was necessary, hence the meeting.

Frank Oliver, M. P., J. H. Picard, Rev. H. Ledue, G. W. Gairdner and J. R. Breunton, addressed the meeting. It was decided unanimously that an exploring party be sent, particularly to explore the proposed route from Peace River to Pelly river by way of the Liard and to return and report during the fall and winter.

Messrs. J. A. McDougall, J. H. Picard and W. S. Robertson, were appointed an executive committee of three to solicit subscriptions, and if the amount raised would warrant to select two men for the work, outfit and start them as quickly as possible.

The chairman mentioned that the expense of providing a guide as far as Fort St. John for the California party would have to be raised also. The amount for that purpose would be about $125. The expense of sending two men to Pelly river and back was estimated at $800, so that at least $1,000 was wanted.

J. H. Picard, on behalf of the executive committee opened his subscription list, on which he had already secured $450, and very substantial additions were made before the meeting closed.

The meeting adjourned with the understanding that final action by the executive committee would be taken last evening.

Tribune, Winnipeg: Chas. Lewis Shaw, of the Rat Portage News, is in the city.

Yukon territory has been constituted by order-in-council a land registration district with headquarters at Fort Cudahy.

Globe: The price for No. 1 Manitoba hard wheat is now 38 cents per bushel higher than it was a year ago, while the price for Ontario wheat is 25 cents higher than a year ago. This, taken in conjunction with the increased production through large acreage and large yield per acre this year, in Ontario, at least, will certainly be a great thing for the trade of the country. The estimates of the wheat production in Manitoba this season range round 24,000,000 bush, or 6,000,000 bushels more than in 1896. With this increase, if the wheat does not advance any more than it has already, would mean $5,100,000 in the pockets of Manitoba farmers for the increased production expected this year, while for the balance of the crop of 18,000,000 bushels, with the present advance over last year they would receive $6,840,000 more than in 1896, making a total of $11,940,000 more money for the Manitoba wheat crop this year than last year.
